

e-Loam F7

Sunday, 18 January 2009

When I first caught a glimpse of this UMPC, my first thought was that another cheapo UMPC is out in the market for an affordable purchasing price. In fact, the e-Loam F7 spots pretty good specifications, I can say.

It comes equipped with the following specs:

- 1.2GHz CPU
- 1GB of RAM
- 8GB (or 80GB) hard drive
- WiFi
- 7-inch touchscreen
- Bluetooth
- 0.3 megapixel webcam

Best of all, for such a miniature device, it boots up on Windows XP. I believe that this is pretty much better when compared to smartphones – at least it has specific functions which you can use it for rather than a smartphone which is practically dumb.

No word on price and availability just yet.